DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

``I take care of my own'': A field study on how leadership handles conflict between individual and collective incentives

Romain Gauriot and Lionel Page

I, Lionel Page, declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Our study relied on existing historical data and it did not involved any human data collection. For this reason, no IRB submission was required.