"The Contribution of the Minimum Wage to U.S. Wage Inequality over Three Decades: A Reassessment"
March 23, 2015

1. Sources of financial support for the research.

My part of this research was funded using financial support from the UK ESRC

2. Each interested party from whom he or she has received significant financial support, summing to at least $10,000 in the past three years, in the form of consultant fees, retainers, grants and the like.

I list below all parties from which I have received $10K+ in the last three years. I do not think that any of these entities is an "interested party" but I am erring on the side of completeness:

a. Government of Singapore, Ministry of Trade and Industry

b. Lieff Cabraser Heimann & Bernstein, LLP (expert advice in 'no cold-calling' litigation)

c. Federal Demographic Council, United Arab Emirates (project on likely consequences of minimum wage in UAE)

3. Each author should disclose any paid or unpaid positions as officer, director, or board member of relevant non-profit organizations or profit-making entities. A "relevant" organization is one whose policy positions, goals, or financial interests relate to the article.

a. Have worked on UK minimum wage issues together with the Resolution Foundation, a UK think-tank focused on "analysis and action on living standards"

4. The disclosures required above apply to any close relative or partner of any author.

Spouse works for Bank of England

5. Each author must disclose if another party had the right to review the paper prior to its circulation.

No party had the right to review the paper prior to circulation.
