Disclosure Statement for AEJ Macro Submission "Inflation in the Great Recession and New Keynesian Models" by Marco Del Negro, Marc Giannoni, and Frank Schorfheide

1) I am an employee of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The views expressed in this paper do not necessarily reflect those of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York or the Federal Reserve System. I did not receive outside financial funding for this project. I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

   New York, April 9, 2014

   Marco Del Negro
   Assistant Vice President
   Federal Reserve Bank of New York

2) I am an employee of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The views expressed in this paper do not necessarily reflect those of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York or the Federal Reserve System. I did not receive outside financial funding for this project. I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

   New York, April 9, 2014

   Marc Giannoni
   Research Officer
   Federal Reserve Bank of New York

3) My research on this project was financially supported by the National Science Foundation under Grant SES 1061725. I am a visiting scholar at the Federal Reserve Banks of Philadelphia and New York. I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

   Philadelphia, April 9, 2014

   Frank Schorfheide
   Professor of Economics

Department of Economics
University of Pennsylvania