Disclosure statement corresponding to 'Understanding the Great Recession', submitted to American Economic Journal, Macroeconomics, Lawrence Christiano

The following numbering corresponds to the disclosure principles in the AEA disclosure policy statement.

1. As a professor, I receive a salary from Northwestern University. In addition, over the past three years I have received renumeration for the following outside activities: Short lecture courses at: Bank of Korea, International Monetary Fund, Kiel Institute for World Economics, Gerzensee Study Center, Central Bank of Peru, Central Bank of Portugal, Central Bank of Colombia, Central Bank of Hungary, Swiss National Bank, Central Bank of the Czech Republic, Renmin University, China. Consultant, Central Bank of Brazil. Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, advisor. Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, advisor. Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, advisor. Consultant, Global Markets Institute at Goldman Sachs.

2. I am not an officer, director, or board member at any non-profit institution or profit-making entity.

3. The statement in 2 applies to all close partners and relatives.

4. To my knowledge, no other party had the right to review the paper prior to circulation.