Disclosure statement for paper "The Next Generation of the Penn World Table"

This research received support through grants from the National Science Foundation and the Sloan Foundation. This information is included in the acknowledgements listed in the paper.

This financial support did not come with a non-disclosure obligation. It also did not involve a right for anyone to preview the data or paper before it was being circulated.

Robert Feenstra is the Director of the International Trade and Investment research program at the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Robert C. Feenstra

April 15, 2015