Disclosure Statement

1. The research reported in this paper received no financial support.
2. I have received significant financial support within the last three years from the following entities:
 - a. The University of Alaska Foundation, Grant 5335, for research, teaching, and service relating to energy issues. The Foundation funded this grant using gifts from BP Exploration Alaska and ConocoPhillips. The gifts carried no restrictions as to their use.
 - b. The State of Alaska, Department of Commerce, Community, and Economic Development. This support was in the form of a Reimbursable Services Agreement to support a study of the fiscal effects of the Alaska fishing, mining, and tourism industries.
 - c. The State of Alaska, Alaska Energy Authority. This support was in the form of two reimbursable services agreements, one to support the study of Alaska rural electric utilities, and the other to track improvements in energy efficiency.
 - d. The Chugach National Forest, as part of a cooperative agreement to improve the ability of the Chugach National Forest to make land and resource management decisions in the face of climate change.
3. All data used in this paper are in the public domain.
4. I do not have any paid or unpaid position as an officer or director of any relevant organization.
