Disclosure Statement for "Vertical Integration and Exclusivity in Platform and Two-Sided Markets"

This paper has benefitted from funding from the IO Research Group at Harvard University in 2006, and the NET Institute at New York University in 2007.

After the research in this project was completed, I presented the methodology contained within this paper to a firm involved in the videogame industry in June 2012 and was financially compensated. Prior to this presentation, I have had no financial relationship with any firm involved in this industry, nor have received any in-kind compensation related to this work.

The main finding of this paper remains unchanged from the first circulated version (2007). No review requirement has been imposed by any organization.

Sincerely,

Robin S. Lee
